Similar to the website, users will be required to enter an access code to use the GlicRx mobile app. The user will be prompted to enter their access code the first time they use the app.

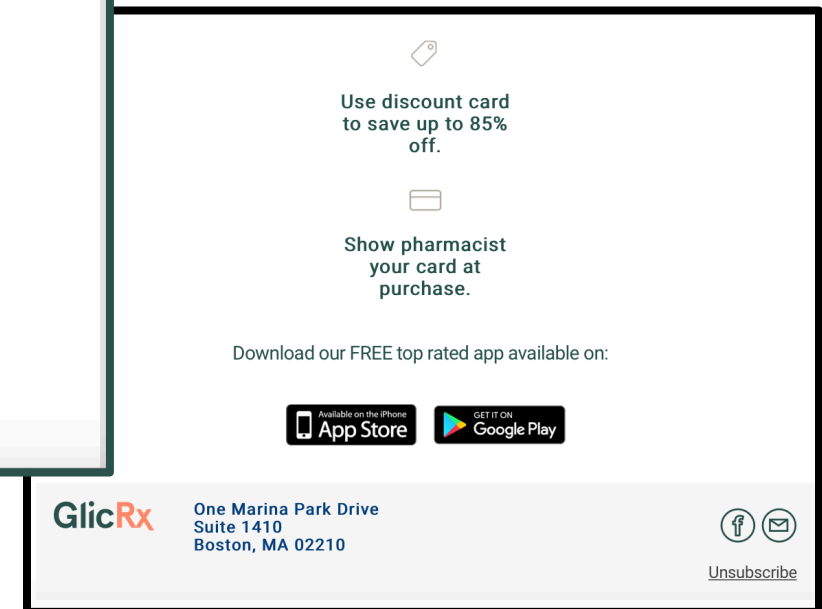

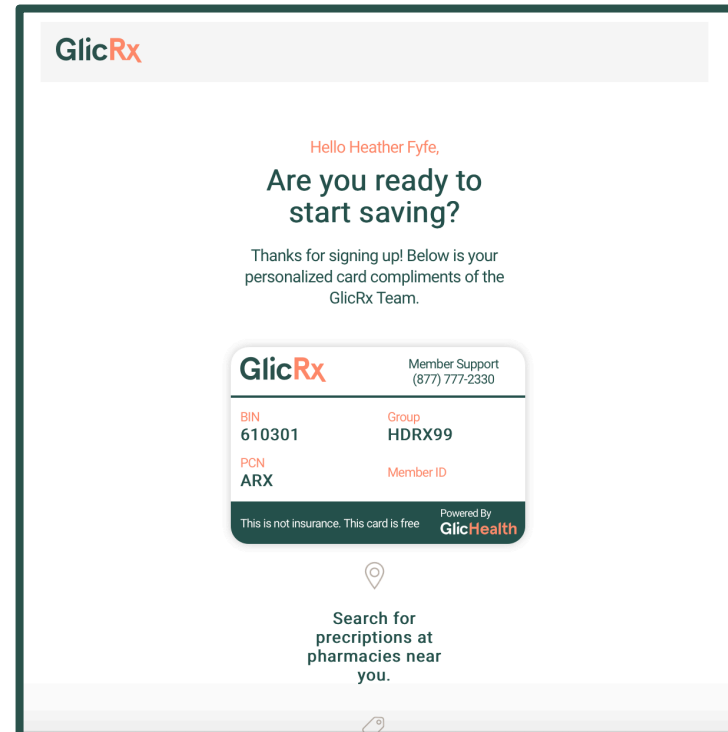

Once the user is signed into the app, your group number will auto-populate all of the cards, ensuring you get credit for all transactions.

The app allows users to search for drug pricing at pharmacies using their zip-code, ensuring they receive the best price for the drug they need.

GlicRx – Autoresponder Emails

After a consumer signs into the mobile app or website using your access code, they will receive a series of 4 autoresponder emails in addition to being able to save the card file to their user profile. The first email contains a digital file of your card, along with links to download the GlicRx app. The links auto-populate the app with your group number, so the user will not have to sign in again.

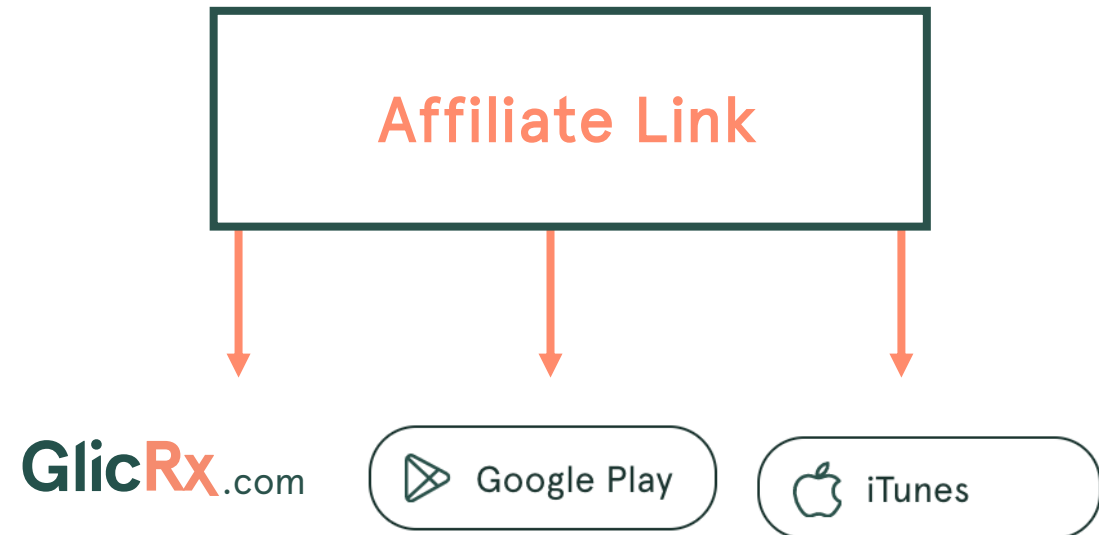

The 3 additional autoresponder emails will then remind the user to download the app and use their card.

GlicRx – Affiliate Link

GlicRx partners are also provided with a unique affiliate link for the website and mobile app that bypasses login, thus no access code is needed. Affiliate links can be assigned to brokers or a marketing campaign.

Users will still be prompted to enter their name and email so that they receive the autoresponder email sequence.

Physical Distribution

GlicRx partners are also able to distribute the card via printed cards. Printed cards will have your unique group sequence and access code, ensuring you get credit for your transactions.

The access code will allow users with a printed card to visit GlicRx.com or download the mobile app to search for prices (and sign up for a digital card file and autoresponder emails!).
